Andante
f rit.
Don't blame the Ger-mans for it is-n't right, Re-mem-ber they are one to five in French and the Bel-gians, mis-led by Eng-land's greed, Must ver-y soon sur-ren-der for they mf
this gi-gan-tic fight, With the Al-lies all a-gainst them yet they hold their own, It's know they can't suc-ceed, And It-a-ly at-tempts to save them from dis-grace, For hard to beat the Ger-mans on the land or on the foam.
neu-tral she should still re-main and keep her prop-er place.

CHORUS

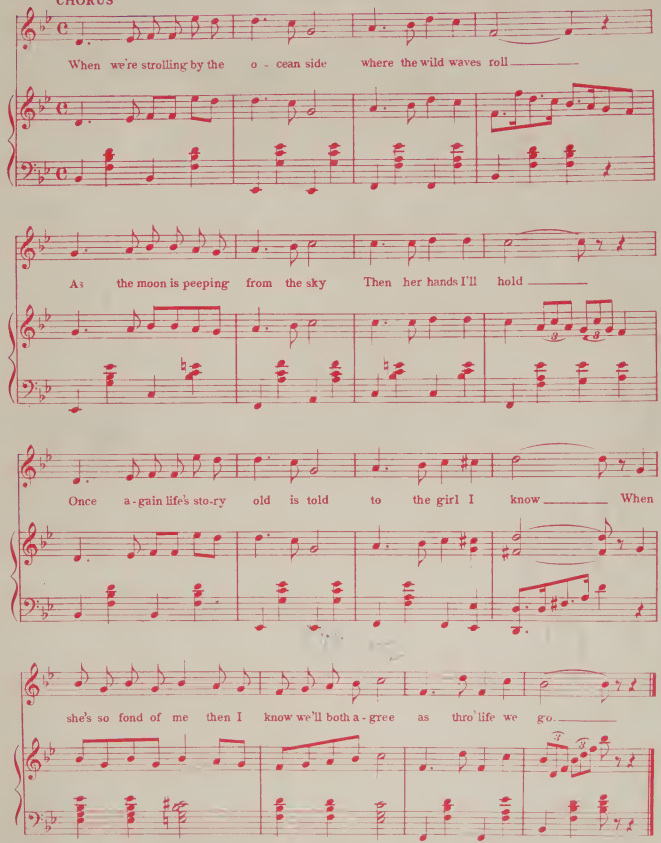
Words and Music by J. J. DONAHUE



When we're strolling by the o - cean side where the wild waves roll
As the moon is peeping from the sky Then her hands I'll hold Once a - gain life's sto-ry old is told to the girl I know When she's so fond of me then I know we'll both a - gree as thro' life we go
